Article Information

Beautiful thick nubuck with an elegant grain pattern. This aniline leather is slightly sanded on the hair side of the hide, hereby a tough but velvet soft surface is created. A typical characteristic of collection Colorado is the beautiful writing effect that ensures a suede look. Note that the natural characteristics must be visibly processed. During tanning, the leather is treated with a moisture and dirt-repellent product, but in use nubuck leather will "sympathize" with the end user. Suitable for residential market and very high-quality projects. Available from stock, from half a hide.

Additional information nubuck leather

The leather is sensitive to the oils produced by human skin and direct contact with the leather can leave blemishes. These marks can be gently buffed out with a very fine sandpaper or a suede brush but the material will always continue to keep the attractive characteristics.

Additionally, the material is also sensitive to various types of light which may cause discoloration. It is therefore not advisable to place nubuck in direct daylight.
